Main features regarding the Location Researching, Scouting & Management workflow:

The professional figure of Location Researcher, Scout & Manager (hereinafter referred to briefly "Location Manager") is responsible for providing clients (Cine-Television and Photographic Production Houses, Advertising Agencies, Directors, Authors, Image Contents Creators etc.), the following services:

During the initial stage of processing, i.e. when the creativity of the film product to be created is defined by the Client, the Location Manager provides ideas, hints and indications aimed at a rapid identification of the most suitable filming locations for the setting of what was imagined in the creative phase; this is particularly true when these settings cannot be obtained within the scenographic structures already existing within the Television/Film Studios dedicated to filming activity.

In this first phase, ideas and suggestions are provided through discursive and above all photographic proposals, using images from a personal archive, created over the years of activity, consisting for the most part of images produced by the Location Manager on the occasion of searches carried out for previous productions, with the support of preliminary contacts with the referents (already existing and/or which are being studied in depth for the occasion). This occurs both in the case of public places (such as commercial structures, Municipalities for glimpses of citizens/agriculture/state properties, etc.) and private places (e.g. commercial structures and establishments, private homes - apartments/villas, various types of companies, etc.)

In the immediately following phase, i.e. the one in which an initial selection of the ideas and cues proposed by the Customer begins to indicate a precise search direction for the places to be considered suitable for filming, proceeds to the actual research, i.e. physically going to the places, to produce updated and dedicated information and video/photographic documentation; this both for those already proposed in a preliminary way, and for others possibly deriving from new ideas (and therefore to be entirely documented from scratch).

On this occasion, the referral persons/owners are contacted, to whom the possible ways in which the production would be carried out are proposed and explained, giving immediate feedback of their feedback to the clients.

Once the most suitable places (the "Locations") have been identified, the Location Manager moves on to operate in the organizational phase, which concerns the actual preparation and implementation of the existing Video/Photographic production. It therefore takes care of contacting in a detailed manner both the Municipal / Municipal / State Property Structures etc., contact persons for public places, as well as the owners / contact persons of private structures etc., to forward the authorization requests and obtain the relative permits for filming, with the prior configuration, depending on the various cases and in various ways, of organizational and economic agreements, formalized through the stipulation of detailed contracts, completed in the form considered most appropriate, and/or indicated by the Principal customer

In the final stage and realization of filming, finally, the Location Manager, on the basis of the agreements reached, operates in guiding and checking that the film processing (the "Set"), which is generally characterized by an intense "impact" on the normal activity of the places that are involved, is carried out with order and effectiveness, in compliance with the aforementioned agreements, also guaranteeing with the parties (Owners, Representatives and Clients) that, at the end of it, there is general and shared satisfaction, so that, for any subsequent occasions, a mutual interest in settling back in the place such a kind of activity.
